AMGC NEWS!!

July proved to be a booming month for the golf course. Lots of tourists took to the fairways which adds up to green fees and cart rentals. That's news members like to hear. Remember to be courteous and welcome new faces. They will return.

For those who will not return: Alpine Meadow golfers hold in their heart memories of both Ray Milligan and Buck Beier. Both gentlemen loved the golf game and helped make the golf course what it is today.

Check out the Buck Beier bronze memorial plaque. It is located on the left hand side of the No. 4 fairway next to the pond where a water fountain donated by family and friends is to be placed in Buck's memory. (The fountain has been ordered, but Jerry Hook is in search of a pump that will work in gray water.)

Lady golfers not only enjoy playing golf they take special interest in the continuing operation of Alpine Meadows. This 2019 season the gals, as a group, helped pay for a new dishwasher, purchased a new 8-burner grill, supplied flowers for the planters and hanging baskets at clubhouse entry.

After years of talking replacement of the AMGC stone pavers on the hillside near the No 2 Tee Box, Nancy Huff, with some good volunteer help, made the new sign a reality. The ladies paid for all the supplies for the signs refurbishment.

A “money making” project of picking up cans from waste baskets around the course, under the guidance of Carol Marr, has given the ladies a substantial amount of cash the past two years. The Oregon 10 cent refund return has the gals in a dither. They’ve even been known to go dumpster diving.

In regards to Ladies Tuesday golf July highlights include Donna McCadden, Panky Hauxwell, Beth Hough and Carol Marr with birdies on No 4. Honorable mention goes to Rochelle Danielson who experienced a hole in one, but not an honorable hole in one where you become famous for a moment, get all the money in the jar, and buy everyone in the clubhouse a drink, . She landed her drive directly into the large excavated hole near the No 1 green, where lightning had struck earlier in the year.

AND how does everyone like THE NEW RULES OF GOLF especially the one that you don't have to take the pin out to putt? It does save time. Golfers are off the green much faster.

VOTE: Two Board Positions are open for voting this election. Sadly no candidate filed for either position. You may write in two names. The voting box is on the counter in the clubhouse. You can't miss it. Voting ends August 19.

Current members of the board are: Jerry Hook, President, Kathy Reynolds, vice-president. Members Ron Layton, Judy Ables, Mike Harshfield, Adam Ward and Brian Rahn.

AMGC looks good whether you play early morning, during a warm day, or cool evening . . . especially pleasurable to play shadows before away.

in evening calm. It is truly the course in the long sunset. Takes your breath

So savor your summer. Play your heart out.

Let's hope that September and October weather holds for golfers so that when they do put their clubs away for the winter they do it with a sigh of satisfaction.
